CHOOSE FROM 2 PATHS TO GRADUATE SCHOOL

Path 1: For Senior Students
(In China, this type of program is called 3+1+Master’s)

For RISING SENIORS* from FSU’s partner universities who want to complete the final year of their bachelor’s degree at FSU and graduate from their home university.

For a list of current partner universities visit global.fsu.edu/sap.

Path 2: For Recent Graduates
(In China, this type of program is called 4+1+Master’s)

For RECENT GRADUATES who are interested in a graduate program in the U.S. and want to strengthen their academic or English skills and acclimate to American culture.
PATH 1: 3+1+MASTER’S

RISING SENIORS from FSU’s partner universities and students who have completed all but the final year of the bachelor’s degree program may apply to study 2 semesters at FSU.

Students need pre-approval from the home university to ensure the FSU credits will count toward the bachelor’s degree.

SAP Fall Semester
- 4-5 undergraduate-level prerequisites required by the FSU academic department and approved by the home university.

SAP Spring Semester
- Combination of 4 undergraduate and/or graduate-level courses.

Transition to Master’s program
- Students apply to a master’s degree program in spring semester of the SAP year through the FSU admissions portal and submit all of the required documents, such as: GRE/GMAT score, TOEFL/IELTS score, official undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, personal statement, and resume/CV.
- Students who are admitted to a master’s degree program will be degree-seeking students and pay out-of-state tuition and fees.
- Up to 12 credits (4 graduate-level) courses taken during the SAP may count toward the master’s degree. Students who transfer 12 credits to the master’s degree may generally complete it in 3 additional semesters (additional time for thesis or internship).¹
- The master’s degree programs in business are all designed for students to complete in 3 semesters (typically summer, fall, spring) and no credit is transferred from SAP.
PATH 2: 4+1+MASTER’S

Students who have already completed a bachelor’s degree and want to earn a master’s degree in the U.S. may apply to study 2 semester at FSU through SAP and receive Conditional Admission to the master’s degree program.\(^1\) Once students achieve the conditions set by the FSU academic department they are officially admitted to the master’s degree program.\(^2\)

There are two study tracks for students who have already completed a bachelor’s degree:

1. Academic Track
   - For students who have met the English proficiency requirement but who have:
     - missed the normal graduate application deadline,
     - not taken the GRE/GMAT by the deadline,
     - want to pursue a master’s in a different academic field, or
     - want extra staff support and time to adjust to academics in the U.S.
   - Students on the academic track take a combination of undergraduate prerequisites and/or graduate-level courses during fall and spring semester, and up to 4 graduate-level courses (12 credits) taken during the SAP can count toward the master’s degree.\(^1\)
   - Students who transfer 12 credits to the master’s degree may generally complete it in 3 additional semesters (additional time for thesis or internship).

2. English-Language Track
   - Students who have not met the required English proficiency for their academic program will study English full-time at the Center for Intensive Studies located on FSU’s campus.\(^3\)
   - Students do not receive academic credit for English study but have the opportunity to achieve the English proficiency score needed to be officially admitted to the master’s degree program.

\(^1\) The College of Business (majors in Finance and Marketing/General Business) does not offer conditional acceptance for graduate degree programs nor does it allow credit taken during the special academic program to count for the Master’s degree program since all of their master programs are already designed to be completed in three semesters.

\(^2\) The offer of conditional admission expires at the end of the 2-semester special academic program and students who have not achieved the conditions by this time will have to apply separately for admission to the master’s degree program.

\(^3\) Students with English scores of 65 TOEFL or 5.5 IELTS will likely be able to achieve the required 80 TOEFL or 6.5 IELTS within the 2-semester special academic program.

RETENTION

98% of participants who applied for the master’s degree program at FSU were admitted.

94% of participants were admitted to graduate programs or internships in the US, UK or Australia after completing the program. Of these, 85% chose to remain at FSU.

94% of engineering and public administration participants applied to FSU for a master’s degree program after completing the program.

25% have continued on to PhD programs at FSU.

*Business majors do not allow credit to transfer into the master’s programs. These are already accelerated master’s programs designed to be completed in 3 semesters (1 year).
“I am now a master’s student at FSU studying public administration, which ranks among the top 30 MPA programs in the U.S. This program allowed me to enroll in four graduate courses before I started my graduate program. It helped me prepare for my life as a graduate student and saved lots of time as well.”

“I appreciate this program, because I gained a lot. I had to read about 200 page articles per week, and it was a big challenge for me. Most of time it was like reading lots of separated letters. However, Jocelyn, the program director, used her free time to teach me how to read efficiently when she heard I was having trouble.

The other program staff helped me with other challenges I encountered. They also brought us to different school events to help us get to know American school culture well. I feel lucky that I attended this program.”

  • Transcript with English Translation

Plan ahead:
  • Begin studying English immediately
  • Register to take the TOEFL/IELTS early; there is a 3-month wait time in China

Register you interest well in advance:
  • Speak to your professors about the opportunity
  • Contact the program team at FSU

Apply by the deadline: April 20!

“I think this program is very beneficial for the Chinese student who decides to go abroad. The staff here is very nice. They will help you to be familiar with the different culture and lifestyle. This program is not only about learning overseas, but also about getting the social experience. You will become more confident to overcome your master’s degree program.”
